

Some changes and highlights

- We have changed our name to Archive Digital Books Australasia (ADBA)
- This update lists the main additions to the Archive CD Books Australia printed catalogue issued April 2008.
- To better streamline management of our products all future updates to our ADBA list will be through Gould Genealogy & History - www.gould.com.au. We have established a separate ADBA catalogue within Gould to enable you to browse ADBA products in the same way as on the "old" ADBA web site. All standing orders and customer status benefits will be maintained under Gould (to be set up soon). In fact there will be some widening of these to bring further "loyalty" benefits from the wider Gould range in the near future.
- We added 501 new ADBA products in 2008 and as at 30 April 2009 we have 1367 in all. We expect to maintain or increase that rate of publication in 2009, and are well advanced in negotiations with major new source partners. We have also engaged new scanning agents in Brisbane, Sydney and Hobart and are considering others in other cities. This will increase both the rate and variety of products digitised.
- We have also entered into an important partnership with World Vital Records to offer a selection of our range online. A new web site with special Australasian collections is currently (May 2009) being finalised.
- Major series news:
 - POLICE GAZETTES - SA and Qld are now complete. We expect to complete Tasmania and NSW by mid year.
 - GOVERNMENT GAZETTES - all states (except WA) have progressed in 2008. Output in 2009 will increase.
 - QUEENSLAND EDUCATION GAZETTE 1899-1958 - this was completed during 2008
 - DIRECTORIES - we now have over 300 on our list - 145 added in 2008. This rate will continue. An important new collection is NSW (mainly Sydney) telephone directories from 1934 to 1954
 - HISTORICAL RECORDS OF AUSTRALIA. Series 1 now complete (26 volumes)
 - ELECTORAL ROLLS - We are working through a series of Qld State rolls, and have commenced a large selection of Commonwealth rolls for all states and New Zealand.
